

Dr Wilhelm Windhorst is a senior lecturer at the Ecology Center, University of Kiel, Germany, in the department of Ecosystem Research and the responsible coordinator for their International Master Program on Environmental Management. Dr Windhorst is also member of the Board of Directors of the Ecology Center.

The Ecology Center is an interdisciplinary institution of the Faculty of Agriculture and Nutritional Science and the Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences.

The main focus of the Ecology Centre is an integrative approach to fundamental ecological sciences and applied environmental research.

Currently, the Ecology Centre is made up of the Department Ecosystem Research, Hydrology and Water Resources Management, of Department Geobotany, Landscape Ecology, Geomorphology and the Department of Coastal Ecology represented by the Research and Technology Centre Westkste (FTZ).